

Skitch Henderson sentenced in $350,000 gift deduction

NEW YORK (AP) — Conductor Skitch Henderson received a six month prison sentence today for filing false income tax statements.

He also was fined $10,000 in Manhattan Federal Court. Henderson, 56, remained free pending appeal of his conviction, involving donation of music to the University of Wisconsin.

Judge Edward Weinfeld declared that Henderson's trial last December produced clear evidence that the former conductor for NBC's "Tonight Show" knowingly made false statements about the date of the donation and in claiming it was worth $350,000, when he knew that the gift was almost worthless.

Defense lawyer Louis Bender argued that Henderson's trouble began in 1969 when he hired a new accountant, and that Henderson "had no knowledge" of a new tax reform that outlawed the kind of deduction he claimed.

Judge Weinfeld declared that Henderson knew what he was doing in false statements, "and no accountant or lawyer was present to guide him."

One of the statements involved claims that Henderson had consulted such notables as conductor Leonard Bernstein as to the $350,000 evaluation of the musical papers.

Bernstein, a government witness, denied that he was consulted to give an evaluation of the works.

Henderson faced a possible three-year jail term on each of the two counts of making false statement, with $5,000 in fines on each.

Bender said that Henderson had suffered for two years under the cloud of investigation and the indictment of last July 2. He urged the judge not to impose a prison term.

The government contended the Henderson music cost him nothing, having been given to the conductor without charge by the "Tonight" show, where he had been music director.

News in brief

Walker ponders construction work

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The administration of Gov. Daniel Walker is considering a multimillion-dollar state program of construction to create jobs and stimulate the economy.

Norton Kay, Walker's press secretary, said Thursday that department and agency heads have been asked to submit ideas for projects that would create jobs.

Kay would not specify how large a program was being considered, but the Chicago Sun-Times, quoting administration sources, reported in today's editions that the program could cost the state more than $1 billion.

Higher payroll deductions sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—While President Ford and congressional leaders are supporting a large tax reduction, an advisory panel is on the brink of recommending higher Social Security payroll taxes. The expected proposal would be designed to keep the Social Security system solvent. But Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., chairman of the Social Security subcommittee of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, called it "an outrageous recommendation."

Johnson asked for CIA information

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former CIA Director Richard M. Helms has told a Senate committee that during the 1960s the CIA analyzed information on American radical groups in response to "the express concern of the President" that there was a foreign influence behind domestic disturbances. The President involved was Lyndon B. Johnson.

Hebert trying to retain his post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. F. Edward Hebert, deposed as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee by the Democratic revolt against the seniority system, is threatening to wage an unprecedented floor fight to retain the post. Hebert was one of two chairmen who failed to win re-election at the caucus of all 291 Democrats. The other loser was Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., who was removed as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Explosion ends IRA cease fire

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—A bomb explosion and bursts of shooting in Northern Ireland marked the end of the Irish Republican Army's Christmas cease-fire after 25 days without violence. Minor guerrilla activity resumed in Northern Ireland a few hours after the IRA's Provisional wing announced in Dublin that it would not extend the truce past midnight Thursday because the British government had not responded adequately to its demands for troop withdrawals, amnesty and an end to internment of suspected guerrillas without trial.

Insurgents threaten Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Government forces battled all day with Khmer Rouge insurgents threatening Phnom Penh from the west and killed 50 of the insurgents, the Cambodian military command reported today. The government sent troops into the area near Tuol Leap, 13 miles west of Phnom Penh, to try to push back insurgents who were believed massing for attacks on the capital's airport or an ammunition dump nearby, observers said.

Rush on for federal jobs, again

NEW YORK (AP)—Forty years after a Depression-era program called the WPA, Americans are again scrambling for thousands of federally funded public jobs under a government plan to help those hardest hit by recession. The Comprehensive Employment and Training Act program thus far provides about $1.8 billion, allocated in two parts, over a period of about a year.

88 ballots fruitless in House race

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A freshman Republican legislator's announcement that he would vote for a Democrat for speaker has sent the Illinois House home in disarray without a decision on who should fill the powerful post.

The move Thursday by freshman Lee Daniels of Elmhurst was the first sign of a crack in the ranks of Republicans, who have stayed out of the speaker race for nine days and 88 ballots.

Daniels announced on the 88th ballot he wanted to change his vote from his party leader, James Washburn of Morris, to the leading Democratic votegetter, William A. Redmond of Bensenville.

Shouts erupted from his fellow Republicans, who had agreed to cast their votes for Washburn and let the 101 Democrats choose the speaker. Washburn raced down an aisle to talk with the temporary presiding officer of the House, Secretary of State Michael Howlett, who agreed to take a voice vote on Washburn's demand for a weekend adjournment.

Washburn later told reporters Daniels "is a young man who's under a lot of pressure from home."

Daniels is from Redmond's district.

"I feel this balloting has gone long enough," Daniels said. Washburn said he had met with Daniels earlier and thought he had talked the freshman out of voting for a Democrat.

"The Democrats have the majority (101 to 76) in this House and it is their responsibility to elect a speaker," Washburn said.

Redmond has been unable through 89 ballots to collect more than 81 of the 89 votes required to win the powerful post. He has the backing of Gov. Daniel Walker, Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and virtually every other major Democratic officeholder in the state.

Democratic leader Clyde Choate of Anna has been able to retain the support of 15 to 20 legislators since he was abandoned by the mayor's forces last week.

That has been enough to stop Redmond.

Choate, who had the votes of the 40-some legislators controlled by Daley for 38 ballots, was unable to get more than 61 of the 89 votes he needed to become speaker.

Daniels said he would vote for Redmond again Monday when the House resumes its voting, and the possibility of Republican defections to Redmond posed problems for the Bensenville Democrats' bid.

"If I were Bill Redmond, I wouldn't accept the speakership if I had less than 89 Democratic votes," said Paul Stone, D-Sullivan.

Rep. Rolland Tipsword of Taylorville said he stayed off the floor for several ballots Thursday when he heard that as many as five Republican would cross over to vote for a Democrat.

"I won't support any Democrat who has Republican votes," Tipsword said.

Redmond said he had not solicited Daniels' support, although he understood that several local officials of both parties had been pressuring the 32-year-old freshman legislator to vote for him.

He said he would remain a candidate when the voting resumes Monday, but added, "Quite frankly, I'm disgusted... I really thought that there would have been a break long before this."

GM is only holdout in discount offer

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. has become the second auto maker to offer new car buyers significant discounts in the hope that company rebates of up to $500 will lure shoppers into showrooms.

General Motors remains the only Big Three firm not sending checks to customers for buying one of its cars. But industry observers say growing pressure from dealers may force GM to do the same to remain competitive in a depressed market. GM officials had no immediate comment on Ford's move.

Ford said Thursday it will mail rebates of between $200 and $500 to purchasers of its 1975 small car lines starting immediately. The offer lasts until Feb. 28.

Ford said the rebates include $200 on 1975 Pintos, Mavericks and Comets, $300 to $500 on Mustang II models, $350 on the SuperCab light truck and $500 on the 1974 Capri.

Chrysler Corp., which launched a similar rebate program on Monday, said Thursday it will keep four assembly plants closed again next week. That extends the layoff of 13,750 workers.

Chrysler said car plants in St. Louis; Newark, Del., and Hamtramck, Mich., and the St. Louis truck plant would remain shut because of poor sales. Chrysler also has 50,000 workers on indefinite layoff.

Ford Chairman Henry Ford II conceded the decision to use rebates was in direct response to Chrysler's plan. The initial reaction from Ford dealers was enthusiastic.

"It's definitely going to help sales," said Roger Dayton, sales manager for Southdale Ford in the Minneapolis suburb of Edina.

Other persons indicted by the grand jury include: Darrell S. Link, 17, Earlville, burglary; Tom Spittler, 19, Savanna, burglary; John Hardesty, 26, Chana, theft; Denny Vaile, 46, 1003 W. First St., disorderly conduct; Henry Wintjen alias Kenneth Dewitz, 28, Aurora, forgery; Jack Hartsell alias Juan Allen Torres, Aurora, forgery; Daniel Walker, age and address unknown, burglary; John Bam-borough, 19, Polo, possession of a controlled substance, and Jerry Moore, 23, Paw Paw, theft.

Three bids received for well project

Wehling Well Works, Beecher, submitted the apparent low bid of $25,870 for replacing well pump 7, in the 1100 block of Nachusa Ave., at the bid opening Wednesday by the Dixon Water Board.

The board's engineer will check over the bid to ascertain it meets the specifications stated.

Wehling Well Works was awarded a contract some month ago to replace the pump in well 3 and has indicated if the pump is received as promised the installation should be completed in early February.

Other bids were from Egerer-Galloway Well Corp., Milwaukee, Wis., for $34,110, and Layne Western Co., Inc., Aurora, for $28,116.

In other business the board approved extending the time to pay water bills from the 10th day to the 21st day of the month in which the bill is due.

The board also approved bills amounting to $14,493.94.

ISP would alter concept of welfare

By RONALD REAGAN

Lately in Washington there has been talk about the nation's welfare system being "a mess," that it should be scrapped and replaced by a new, simpler plan, the Income Supplement Program.

Like the Family Assistance Plan (FAP) which died in the 92nd Congress, ISP would radically alter the basic concept of welfare in the United States. Historically, welfare has been granted on the basis of need. ISP would substitute the concept of a guaranteed minimum income, regardless of need.

The proponents of ISP want it to replace food stamps, Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) and Supplementary Security Income (SSI), a program for the aged, blind and disabled.

Unaccountably, the champions of the new scheme in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare are putting all their reform eggs into the ISP basket, dismissing out-of-hand case load reform of existing programs, such as the reforms which have resulted in nearly a 400,000 drop in the welfare rolls in California since 1971. Other states adopting similar reforms are now experiencing reductions, too.

Not all details of the ISP proposal have been released but those that have raise questions and problems. For example:

—ISP would double the number of persons receiving cash handouts and would sharply reduce the number of taxpayers shouldering the total burden of government.

—It would cost approximately $26 billion more per year than current programs. It would "federalize" welfare at a time when federal take-over of aid to five million blind, aged and disabled has proved to be a conspicuous failure. It is hard to imagine how the federal government could manage the ISP program, with some 41 million recipients, with any degree of efficiency. It has also been proposed to have the Internal Revenue Service handle the ISP grants, possibly in the hope of merchandising the program to the taxpayers better.

—Some states now pay greater benefits than those proposed under ISP.

If these states don't make supplements, then the truly needy would suffer cuts in benefits from ISP.

—"Simplification" is a loaded word when it comes to welfare. The easiest way to simplify welfare is to eliminate all eligibility standards and checking and go to welfare-by-affirmation. The experience of California and other states has been that improved eligibility checking results in reduced welfare rolls. The savings can go, at least in part, into greater benefits for the needy remaining.

—A work requirement provision attached to the ISP scheme hasn't much likelihood of surviving. It is well known that many on the HEW staff oppose it.

Proponents rest the case for ISP ultimately on getting Congress' agreement to eliminate all other welfare programs.

Given Congress' inclinations in recent years, it is difficult to imagine the solons dropping all existing programs to take up ISP or refraining from passing on additional benefits to the new scheme.

Federal reform is still badly needed in one area of welfare, food stamps. This program, originally designed to distribute agricultural surpluses to the needy, has been running out of control. Counterfeiting and theft are chronic problems; eligibility standards are minimal (for example, an able-bodied college student can get food stamps even though his parents support him and his father earns $100,000 a year); and administrative red tape snarls the program. Improved security, administration and eligibility standards and checking could result in savings to the taxpayers without depriving the needy of this welfare supplement.

Voice of the people

To the Editor:

If there would be no other reason for it, the Supreme Court of the United States should declare wage and price control unconstitutional because, according to the Constitution of this country, every man is created equal and every man has equal rights. Thus no law is valid that is not related and/or can not be related to everybody with equal effect. It is obvious that a great part of this population does not live on wages, nor is his income related to anything that we could term "price," either. Physicians, lawyers, plumbers and other people with trades can not be controlled and they have no means to control not even themselves. Just as a physician does not cut out equal lengths of an intestine from someone's belly as he operates on him, thus he has no way to compare last year's charges with recent charges, a plumber's work can not be surveyed case after case, how long piping had to be replaced or by other unthinkable norms.

Over and above the definite contradiction to our constitution, wage and price control is such a stupid economical mistake that if anyone with any proper amount of knowledge is doing it, one has to suspect deliberate destruction rather than stupidity. If this is the case, such people should be impeached. We all know that inflation is produced by increased amount of money put in the circulation by the government, an action I can most clearly call "legal counterfeiting." Because, as any grammar school kid knows it, prices are the ratio of the money to our disposal in average and the goods for our disposal to be bought, as soon as we change the natural figure derived by this simple mathematics and force upon the public a figure other than the result of that mathematics, we are putting money out of its role and we go back to the primitive age of exchange economy as people did it in the stone age. I am not talking from theory, I went through things like that in my life. This and other economical hardships destroy our production and grow into a catastrophic size of depression. Some people say, this is the aim of our government in order to prepare the ground for a communist takeover and for an alliance with the Soviet, a One-World Government where our national sovereignty should be said "good by" to.

I am urging everybody who is in the position to write to his congressman and senator for protest and or to file suits with the Supreme Court to prevent such disaster as wage and price control to be repeated or to be renewed for a longer period of time.

Israel under stress

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Israel Foreign Minister Yigal Allon has privately told Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger what news reports hint at but fail to fully disclose: His country is under internal attack.

Moreover, Mr. Allon sees the threat of worse to come.

The Arab world's November 1974 Rabat declaration gave the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) responsibility of any area of the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip that Israel might relinquish.

Israel seized these areas in 1967 and has never given them back. The Palestinians total 2.78 million. On the West Bank, the Gaza Strip, the Sinai Peninsula taken from Egypt, and elsewhere, a million Palestinians are under Israel rule.

Mr. Allon told Mr. Kissinger that current Palestinian disturbances in Israel actually began in August last year. The Jerusalem government, he stated, imprisoned 890 West Bank and Jerusalem Arabs. It always had contended that resistance groups were Palestinians who infiltrated across the Syrian and Lebanon borders. These were West Bank and Jerusalem Arabs.

Mr. Allon said the ringleaders belong to the Palestine National Front (PNF), a new and powerful movement in the areas Israel seized and still holds—the first serious resistance group since Israel occupied the territory—and affiliated, as well, with the PLO.

Israel's foreign minister said this development is superimposed on a second development: the expansion of a Syrian spy ring and sabotage network, first detected in 1972, which includes Israeli Jews.

Mr. Allon referred to still a third development: a "driftback" of European Jews to Europe, especially to France, and most notably young people with special talents and training—something of a "brain drain" out of Israel back to Europe.

Then Mr. Allon detailed to Mr. Kissinger a fourth development: a swelling exodus of Arab-world Jews into Israel.

The largest exodus is from Morocco. It had the Arab world's largest Jewish community—300,000 Sephardic Oriental Jews (so-called Arab Jews)—when Morocco gained independence from France.

France, in turn, has the largest Jewish community in Western Europe: 535,000. This strong Jewish presence in France gave the Arab Jews in Morocco much French political and other protection. But the bloody July 10, 1971, uprising against friendly King Hassan at his Skirit Palace profoundly frightened all Moroccan Jews and other events expanded the exodus elsewhere throughout the Arab world.

Mr. Allon said that Morocco's 300,000 Jews have now dwindled to less than 30,000. Of these, two-thirds live in the single city of Casablanca. In Lebanon, all but about 6,000 have left. Neighboring Iraq had 120,000 Jews in 1946. It has only 400 today.

Less than 10,000 Jews remain in Moslem countries most closely related to Israel conflicts. Egypt, Lebanon, Libya and Syria alone have 308,000 fewer Jews than 29 years ago.

Israelis describe Eastern European Jews who are already there as Ashkenazim. They are chiefly the children of parents born within a 600-mile radius of the Minsk-Pinsk region of Russia. And Ashkenazim dominate the political power.

In Israel, the Arab Jews are called Sephardim—Mr. Allon said 90 per cent come from North African countries—and they now actually outnumber the European Jews in Israel.

This population, he said, is growing highly explosive.

The Israel Knesset (parliament) has 120 members. There are only 18 Sephardim in it. They hold only three per cent of the top civil service positions. About 90 per cent of Israel's important government, military and industrial positions are held by European Jews. Sephardim comprise nearly 70 per cent of the primary school enrollment, but only four per cent of the university graduates.

The Sephardim are badly prepared to live in Israel's technological society. Many remain poverty stricken. And—quoting the Yiddish word "gazunting," which means to swindle someone—they claim that there is in Israel a caste-class social order which makes them future-starved, second-class citizens.

With these four largely unrevealed developments and others, Israel's inflation, political turbulence, outside problems, etc., Mr. Allon impressed Mr. Kissinger as building a stockade and pulling up the wagons around a tragically vulnerable Israel.

Take it from Here

REFLECTIONS—At a meeting of county government officials last month the discussion brought up the fact the federal government housing units pay county collectors a percentage of the rents collected in lieu of paying taxes on the properties.

This condition came under fire because the formula has not been changed for 20 or more years while taxes paid by other property owners have risen hundreds or thousands of per cent.

It was argued all government services which are provided by property taxes are required by those occupying federal housing but because the federal government is not paying its fair share other taxpayers are paying far more than their fair share.

Angie Manke, member of the DuPage County Board who is also chairman of a special tax reform committee for that board, called attention to another facet of the problem when she observed there are certain western states where huge federal acquisitions of lands which have seriously eroded the taxing base of local governments and schools.

These lands are held for all the people of the United States, she remarked and the federal government should pay its equitable portion of taxes on these lands so local government agencies will not be impaired in providing services.

Ms. Manke called attention to another situation closer to home and in her county.

A few years ago, it may be recalled, strong lobbying was going on to land the National Accelerator Laboratory which finally went to Weston.

It is a one-of-a-kind nuclear research center owned and operated by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

Ms. Manke revealed taxes were completely forgiven on the Weston installation and yet it serves everybody not just the people in DuPage County.

She commented DuPage is hard hit by federal incursions because in addition the Argonne Laboratories which are owned by the federal government are also located in that county.

The suburban board member adamantly demanded some kind of pressure must be brought upon the federal government to pay its fair share of local taxes.

She argued acquisitions of property and erection of facilities by the federal government attract people who require all of the government services and educational opportunities provided by local taxes but the property owner, Uncle Sam, does not pay the taxes like industrial and commercial employers do and indirectly results in other property owners paying higher taxes.

There is no county in the United States which does not have some federally owned low cost housing for low income persons which is operated in county housing authorities.

The Lee County Housing Authority operates the federal housing in this country which includes 25 residential family units throughout Dixon, 80 low cost apartments in Dixon and 10 in Amboy and the 99 apartment highrise building on Washington Avenue.

Last year the housing authority paid $4,600 to the county collector in lieu of taxes.

It should be pointed out last year calculations did not include the highrise building which was in process of construction.

When it is occupied, presumably, the amount paid the county in lieu of taxes will rise somewhat.

All taxpayers pay for the federal subsidization of rents on these units which are based on a variable schedule of ability to pay.

In addition to paying taxes to support the housing projects, here and throughout the nation, local property taxpayers are gouged for higher taxes than would be necessary than if the federal government were paying its fair share of taxes on housing property.

Detente between business, students

Record corporate profits, coupled with inflation and spreading unemployment and not to mention Watergate where many companies made illegal political campaign contributions, have given business a bad name among college students.

The student-business credibility gap is nothing new—it just seems to be getting worse. A recent survey of undergraduate and graduate students found that their idea of the average corporation's profit margin was far out of line with reality and that they distrusted big business to the extent of shunning business careers in droves.

In an effort to correct this kind of "misapprehension and misinformation," the American Management Assn. 10 years ago established the International Council for Operation Enterprise, designed to promote dialogue between the economic and academic communities. Under the council's current chairman, J. Kevin Murphy, president of Purolator Services, Inc., the program is being expanded around the country.

With advice and direction from the International Council, regional councils undertake the task of raising funds to provide full scholarships for college students to attend two-week seminars in their areas on the management process and business practices. The seminars, conducted by the American Management Assn., consist of lectures, discussions and question-and-answer sessions to promote interaction between students and businessmen.

In 1974, programs were available to college students in seven areas—New York City-Long Island, Atlanta, Chicago, San Francisco, Dallas, Phoenix and Montreal. The goal in 1975, says Murphy, is to establish Operation Enterprise seminars on a permanent basis in these areas and in other cities in the United States and Canada.

Mannix in eighth year so

Mike Connors looks to his future

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—One of the favorite conversational subjects at Hollywood parties is the behavior of stars. With great relish, the folks love to exchange the latest stories about the temperamental antics of this one or the scandalous escapades of that one.

And then, invariably, somebody will say how lucky Ivan Goff and Ben Roberts are. And, if Goff or Roberts are present, they will roll their eyes heavenward and agree.

Goff and Roberts produce CBS' Mannix and they are deemed fortunate because their star is Mike Connors. And Connors is that rarity—a star who seems totally devoid of any trace of annoying temperament and completely without the need to get involved in scandal.

There has never been an unkind word said about him by anybody he works with. There have been attempts, since Mannix began, to trump up a feud between him and his on-screen secretary, played by Gail Fisher, but they haven't worked.

About the only problem around seems to be what will happen when that inevitable day comes and Mannix goes. Now that Raymond Burr's Ironside series has been axed, Mannix has become vulnerable. It's been around eight years, which is ancient by current TV standards.

Connors admits he's thinking ahead. He says that if and when Mannix is canceled, he'll probably take a year off "to recharge my batteries; to get a fresh outlook on my career."

But he will undoubtedly then do another series. He's too valuable a property for the TV moguls to let sit on the beach, even though he could probably afford to retire. And he admits that another series is highly probable. The only question seems to be—what kind of a series, what sort of a character would he like to play?

"I don't want to be either a doctor or a lawyer," Connors says, "and certainly not another private eye. What's left? Teachers and politicians don't work on TV. Maybe a newspaperman—if it's done well, that might work."

A newspaper series never has been done well on TV but he's right—it might work. And Connors is handsome enough to be a newspaperman, perhaps.

The problem for creators of TV series is just that—what profession to give the leading character. Connors put his finger on the sore spot.

"You know," he says, "if you take out law-and-order shows and situation comedies, there's not enough left on TV to fill three nights."

Eight years of Mannix—eight years of anything—is enough to make most actors bored with the character they are playing. Mike Connors says he's still not bored with playing Joe Mannix and he says it is the chance to work with new and different people each week that enables him to stay fresh and unbores.

"Everybody," he says, "reacts differently when confronted by different people. Having new people on the show week after week allows me the luxury of a new and fresh reaction. As a human being, I get to meet new personalities and new problems. And that keeps me fresh."

Most of TV's current crop of shows allows the star to share the burden with others—often as many as three or four other characters are regulars, thus spreading the work load. But

MIKE CONNORS: handsome enough to play a newspaperman?

Mannix is alone (except for Miss Fisher) and thus, the work load is almost entirely on Connors' shoulders.

"It's hard work," he says.

He gets up every morning, when he's shooting, at 5:30 and it's a rare day when he's home before eight in the evening. He admits that he is physically tired.

Besides the acting, he does most of his own stunts. He estimates that between 80 and 85 per cent of what we see on the screen he does himself. He draws the line at jumping off high buildings or driving cars down the face of sheer cliffs or allowing himself to be hit by cars. Otherwise, he does it all.

The criterion is whether or not he runs the risk of serious bodily injury. If he thinks he can do it without getting hurt, he'll do it. If not, he passes.

To keep himself in shape for the hard work of both stunts and ordinary acting take time, too. He watches what he eats carefully so he doesn't gain any weight. He says that he relaxes that vigil on weekends but during the week he eats sparingly. And he tries to do some swimming every day and plays tennis on weekends.

"Besides," he says, "the show itself keeps me active. That's really all I need to stay in shape."

So his is a tough life, physically, but it has its rewards, financially. The old rule-of-thumb was that if a show lasted five years, its star would be financially independent. Mannix is in its eighth year.

"That's true," Connors says, "but the rule-of-thumb was written before inflation. Unquestionably, I've earned a lot of money and have a lot coming in, but each month inflation goes up and I wonder."

He isn't the only one who's wondering.

Flying is nothing new to Pat O'Brien

"The very first time I ever got into an airplane—I flew it!" That's what veteran actor Pat O'Brien said during the filming of "The Sky's the Limit," a two-part presentation of "The Wonderful World of Disney," to be colorcast on Channels 6 and 17 on Sunday Jan. 19 and 26 from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m.

His remark was prompted by the role O'Brien plays in "The Sky's the Limit"—a retired World War I flying ace. He sets out to prove that nothing is impossible by flying his old bi-plane one more time.

Thinking back to his first flight, the 75-year-old performer commented: "I'm afraid I've always been a big extrovert. If you think I'm bad today, you should have seen me in my youth!"

O'Brien's memorable flight, chronicled in Ripley's "Believe It or Not," took place in 1933 while O'Brien was starring in John Ford's film, "Air Mail." The script called for O'Brien to climb into the cockpit of a bi-plane and take off on a hunt for the "lost" Ralph Bellamy.

"Naturally, the plan was for me to sit in the cockpit while the camera got a good, close shot, and then they would stop the camera while I got out and pilot Paul Mantz got in to do the actual take-off and landing. But John Ford had an idea."

The actor related that Ford suggested it would be nice if they were able to film O'Brien actually taking the plane off the ground. "Before I could question Ford's sanity, Mantz pops up with a plan. And before I really knew what was going on, I had agreed to the crazy idea," O'Brien said.

Mantz, one of the nation's most famed movie aviators, convinced Ford that he could hide deep in the cockpit and "talk" O'Brien into the air, telling him exactly what to do to get the plane airborne. Then, once clear of the cameras, he would pop up and take over the controls.

Said O'Brien: "After about five minutes of instructions, the cameras rolled—and so did I. I was so scared, I don't remember all the details. There was a lot of 'push this,' 'pull that' and 'Now, Pat, now' coming from Mantz. But I did it. I got that old plane off the ground."

When Mantz landed the plane, and O'Brien prepared to step out to the expected praise of director Ford, he was halted in mid-step by Ford's words:

"Let's do it again. I'd like a protection shot."

O'Brien, whose acting career began more than 50 years ago, is widely known for his portrayal of Knute Rockne but he doesn't think that was his best performance.

"No, I'd have to say the roles I liked best, and thought I gave my best performances in, were 'The Iron Major' or 'Oil for the Lamps of China,'" he said.

"But I honestly think I'd have to include this show for the Disney people, too. It gives me some great opportunities. I have a chance to play for some laughs, some giggles, a few smiles—and some great tears. It's a good story with a great cast and I think I'd rank it among my best."

Attend seminar

Mrs. Alice Pierce, 223 Lincoln Way, manager, and Mrs. Dawn Considine, 520 South Ottawa Ave., clerk of the Dixon Goodwill Industries attended the Sears sales training seminar in Rockford Thursday.

Planning for the second quarter was discussed and the new sales quotas given out.

"All departments of Goodwill offer an opportunity to handicapped people who need to learn new skills, professional evaluation, vocational counseling and on the job training with special benefits of employment in a sheltered work environment," Jeff Otto retail director said.

The meeting was attended by sales personnel from Beloit, Belvidere, Dixon, Freeport, Loves Park and Rockford.

Gets postal contract

Frank A. Smallwood, Harmon, has been awarded a contract to construct a new postal facility in Harmon.

The building, which will be located at 280 feet north of the present post office building, will have an interior of 1,045 square feet.

The Postal Service will lease the building for ten years with four renewal options of five years each.

East-West Tollway work wins achievement award

The American Concrete Paving Association presented its 1974 H. W. Hartmann Outstanding Achievement Award to the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority during the association's 11th annual meeting in San Francisco. Casmer A. Benowicz, chief engineer, accepted the award for Richard E. Blakley, executive administrator and secretary, on behalf of the Authority. The award was given in recognition of the innovative design concepts developed for the 69-mile extension of the Illinois East-West Tollway between Aurora and Rock Falls.

The association predicts that the monolithic concrete pavement and subbase along with concrete shoulders will prove to be the forerunner of a major change in the future of concrete paving.

To meet the goals of an improved design that could be constructed at a low cost yet utilize the readily available construction materials, the design made allowances for the following:

—Soil conditions existing along the corridor with special attention to high ground water table and frost susceptibility characteristics

—Ease and speed of construction

—Safety
—Riding comfort
—Expected performance and ease of maintenance

Of the four pavement designs examined, the one selected consisted of a 10-inch unreinforced concrete pavement on a four-inch concrete subbase and concrete shoulders. However, when the contracts were let, the contractors proposed an alternate of 14-inches of monolithic concrete pavement and subbase. This proposal, which was accepted by the Authority, provided a structurally stronger pavement plus ease and speed of construction.

A 16mm sound movie has been produced covering the construction of the East-West Tollway extension. The film, approximately 15 minutes long, is available on loan from the American Concrete Paving Association.

Completes photography course

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. — Kenneth A. Glass was among the class of 24 who graduated from Brooks Institute, School of Photographic Art and Science. Having completed the 2½ year curriculum, he was awarded the Bachelor of Professional Arts Degree in Professional Photography with a major in Motion Picture Production.

Glass is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren F. Glass of 907 Highland Ave. He previously attended Dixon High School and Northern Illinois University in DeKalb.

Fonzie is a Yale man

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Winkler, who plays Fonzie, the super-cool, greasy-haired, leather-jacketed high school dropout on ABC's "Happy Days" series, is a Yale man. No kidding.

He has a master's degree from the Yale School of Drama. He grew up in New York but says he wasn't a Fun City Fonzie. He attended private school and wore a tie, a blue blazer and grey slacks each day.

He saw his share of Fonzie — people here call them "punks" if they are fleet of foot — but says "I gave 'em a lot of room. I'd go upstairs on the roof of the nearest building if they were around."

The 29-year-old actor, a short, joke-cracking man whose hair contains no greasy kid stuff, is as energetic as Fonzie is lazy.

He says he's acted in some 60 plays and two movies — "The Lords of Flatbush" and "Crazy Joe" — since graduating from college in 1967.

The movies came after his graduation from the Yale drama school in 1970, and were followed by one appearance in the "Mary Tyler Moore" and "Bob Newhart" series on CBS.

Winkler, who said his "Mary Tyler Moore" shot consisted of ten speaking lines, almost blew his chance for the Fonzie role by nearly passing up his first big TV break on the Newhart series. It happened this way:

He says he auditioned to play a Puerto Rican on the Newhart show, didn't get the job, but did hear sounds of interest from the casting agent.

His parents were going to France on vacation at the time and wanted him to join them for his 28th birthday.

"I almost went, but then I realized, 'Everything's breaking for you, you cannot go, and if you break the flow you're dead,'" he laughed.

"You have to understand I come from a German-Jewish family where guilt is the main diet," he added, slipping into a Bronx accent: "Ya have ya tomato juice, a little guilt, and then the main course."

So he didn't go to France. he called the casting agent, asked about another part and wound up playing a reformed bank robber who, despite Newhart's counselling, goes and robs another bank.

"A NORTHERN VIEW"... Kristi Scott and Phillip Gray introduce area television viewers to the excitement and diversity of Northern Illinois University in the new monthly series, "A Northern View," which premieres Saturday at 12:30 p.m. on Channel 13.

Close-up of NIU campus, activities on TV series

ROCKFORD — The exciting diversity of a large university campus plays the leading role in a new monthly television series which debuts on Channel 13 at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 18.

"A Northern View" will introduce viewers to a variety of student and faculty activities at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb, using a magazine format of short feature segments. The program will air at the same time on the third Saturday of each month.

Providing continuity between each "mini-documentary" will be DeKalb native Kristi Scott and Philip Gray, both NIU employees with some previous television experience.

"This will be an attempt to acquaint viewers with what we do at Northern," notes Jack Wellman, the show's executive producer. "We want it to be more than just a 'puff piece' for the university."

Topics will be selected on the basis of general interest to those in Channel 13's primary coverage area, which ranges roughly from Freeport to Elgin and from Dixon to Janesville, Wisc., Wellman notes.

ACCEPTS CAR KEYS—Amboy School Superintendent Donald Skidmore takes delivery on a new Volkswagen to be used in the Driver Education program. Purpose of the "bug" is to teach students how to drive a car equipped with a manual transmission. Presenting the keys to Skidmore is Gary Cooper, sales manager at C. Baumann Volkswagen.

Ask Dick Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Being an Ed Sullivan fan for over 20 years, I wonder if you could tell us how come there was no report on TV or in the papers regarding his funeral.—JOHN DELANO, Mobile, Ala.

Nothing sinister in that, John. There was a large story in The New York Times—New York was Ed's home town—and more than 2,000 mourners were at the funeral at St. Patrick's Cathedral, standing in the rain. There also was local TV coverage. Sullivan was buried in Ferncliff Cemetery, Hartsdale, N.Y. The coverage of the funeral may have been a little less than expected around the country but don't try to read anything evil into that.

DEAR DICK: I read about the fabulous home Bob Hope was building in Palm Springs. As I recall, it caught fire before completion and he rebuilt it. Could you tell me the exact cost and if it was ever completed?—BERNARD SLIPAKOFF, Metairie, La.

It burned during construction and Hope began rebuilding it. But then the designer, Arthur Elrod, was killed in an accident and Bob, discouraged by this second tragedy, decided not to finish it. It still stands there, on its hill-top, looking forlorn and tragic. According to estimates, Hope has already sunk $2 million into it. Some of that was recovered by insurance.

DEAR DICK: In the introduction film in Wide World of Sports, a ski jumper crashes off the ramp. What was his name? What happened to him—did he ever ski again?—BRENT WAKEY, Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada

That was an unfortunate Yugoslavian ski jumper named Vienko Bogatej. And, miraculous as it may seem, all that happened to him was a brain concussion. He's back ski-jumping in competition.

DEAR DICK: Will you clear up something for us, please, Jaye P. Morgan and Jane Morgan—are they cousins or sisters?—ALDE MORSE, Dover, N.H.

Neither. They are unrelated.

DEAR DICK: Will the movie, "2001: A Space Odyssey," ever be on TV? I understand ABC signed a contract in 1972 with MGM to develop a TV series based on the movie to be called Space Odyssey. It was projected for the '74 season. Have plans for the series fallen through?—RANDALL STAPP, Ringgold, Ga.

ABC did make a pilot movie, called "Earth II," which was aired. It was a spinoff from the movie but it didn't sell. The network says they have no present plans to reactivate the project. The movie itself will undoubtedly be shown on TV one of these years.

DEAR DICK: In the popular movies, "Billy Jack" and "The Trial of Billy Jack," they center the whole movie around the Freedom School. Where is it located in real life?—KARLA OCSMAN, Sandusky, Ohio

The school is purely fictional. It is modeled after the Montessori schools. Tom Laughlin and Delores Raylor of the Billy Jack team helped found the first Montessori school in the U.S.

DEAR DICK: About 1925 or 1926, I saw a show here called "The Shepherd of the Hills," based on the book by Harold Bell Wright. Is there any possibility that this film will be shown again sometime? Would it be possible to rent it?—HERB SOMMERS, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho

The chances of a film from the '20s being shown again are negligible, except possibly at some esoteric film festival. As for rentals, I doubt it is in stock, but you could try Films, Inc., 5625 Hollywood Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90028. If anybody has it, it would be them.

Reagan's Viewpoint
on radio

Ronald Reagan returns to WOC Radio 1420 with a daily program entitled "Viewpoint" which will be presented each Monday through Friday at 7:35
a.m.

Reagan got his first radio job with WOC in 1932 as sportscast-announcer. Later he was to transfer to WHO before going into a film career and then into politics and the highest office, the governorship, in the state of California.

The topics chosen by Reagan will focus on national and international affairs and the issues and events which shape the American life.

The format for each 7:35 a.m. broadcast will give Reagan an opportunity to discuss the American viewpoint, as he sees it, in relation to government, industry, the economy, cultural and social institutions.

"Viewpoint" promises to be a stimulating, challenging program in today's radio broadcasting.

Hollywood still lures authors

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Hollywood draws writers of all kinds, like a miraculous magnet. Three fascinating, totally different writers were in town—Angela Davis, Ladislav Farago and Rona Jaffe.

Miss Davis, the one-time cause celebre, proved to be an intelligent and straightforward young woman. We didn't talk politics—that's not my professional area—but stuck to the world of entertainment.

Angela Davis says she believes black exploitation films are doing a great deal of harm to the black community. She singled out "Super Fly" as a prime offender.

"The children," she says, "are growing up glorifying the pimp and the dope pusher, dressing like they dress, speaking and acting like they speak and act. I understand, too, that that film greatly increased the use of cocaine among blacks."

She loved—and approves of—"Sounder" and "Claudine." She says she doesn't watch much TV—she's yet to see Sandford and Son.

But she thinks the combined effect of blacks on TV and in movies has had a positive effect—"now black children can see black grownups in positions requiring education and intelligence and that's good."

She's written her autobiography—"Angela Davis"—and there's talk of a screen version. So far, just talk.

More than talk, though, for Ladislav Farago's story of Nazi Martin Bormann, "Aftermath." That's been sold and Farago is writing the screenplay. It will be his first, although "Patton" was based on his biography of the general.

Farago says "Aftermath," the story of Bormann's escape to South America, will be filmed on that continent.

"Only Brazil and Peru," he says, "would permit a film about a Nazi to be made there. We chose Brazil—it's the cleanest, there's less Nazi infestation there than in any other South American country."

Farago's next project is a biography of the late FBI head, J. Edgar Hoover. He says his publisher wanted him to do one on Douglas MacArthur. "But he didn't turn me on—Hoover did, he was a fascinating man."

One of my favorite people is the pint-sized author of big novels, Rona Jaffe. Her new one, "Family Secrets," is a big, sweeping story, the kind you can lose yourself in.

I said I thought it would make a great movie but she disagreed. She'd rather see it sold to TV than to films.

"Because of its size and scope," she said, "I feel it would be better to make it into one of those new TV film series—like 'QB VII' or 'Upstairs, Downstairs.' I think that's the most popular form of entertainment today."

"My book lends itself more to six or eight episodes on TV than it does to one big movie. I think that's the coming thing with big novels."

Farm digest show premieres Saturday

"The National Farm Digest," television's first national weekly farm program, will premiere on Channel 9 Saturday and be seen each Saturday from 7:30 to 8 a.m.

segments that will provide insight into possible market trends. Other segments will include demonstrations of the newest farm equipment and techniques in every type of farming and every kind of crop from alfalfa to zucchini. In addition, there will be special film features each week from livestock expositions to consumer hints to talks with Department of Agriculture leaders.

War series re-scheduled

"Remember," the closing chapter (26) of the "World at War" series, will be presented on Sunday, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. on channel 9.

Because of the tremendous response by viewers, this powerful series will be re-run in the same time period on Sunday nights beginning Jan. 26.

For many veterans, war remains the most significant experience of their lives. Was it worth it? "Remember" examines this question.

Laurence Olivier narrates this series which reflected the years of struggle between the Allied and axis forces throughout the far regions of the world.

This unique program will offer viewers a total information service, national in scope, about America's most important and timely business, Agribusiness.

Orion Samuelson, WGN's Farm Service director, long recognized as one of the nation's most experienced farm broadcasters and a former president of the National Association of Farm Broadcasters, is the host.

An exclusive interview given to Orion by Secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Earl Butz will be included during the premiere on Jan. 18.

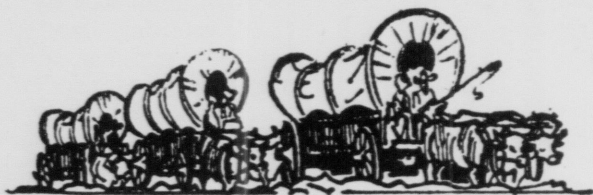

"The National Farm Digest" will be devoted to the in-depth and on-location coverage of current national news of importance to the farmer, as well as weekly "commodity corner"

Joe Feeney sings "Don't You Know?" and Anacani offers Vicki Carr's "It Must Be Him." Arthur Duncan taps to Ethel

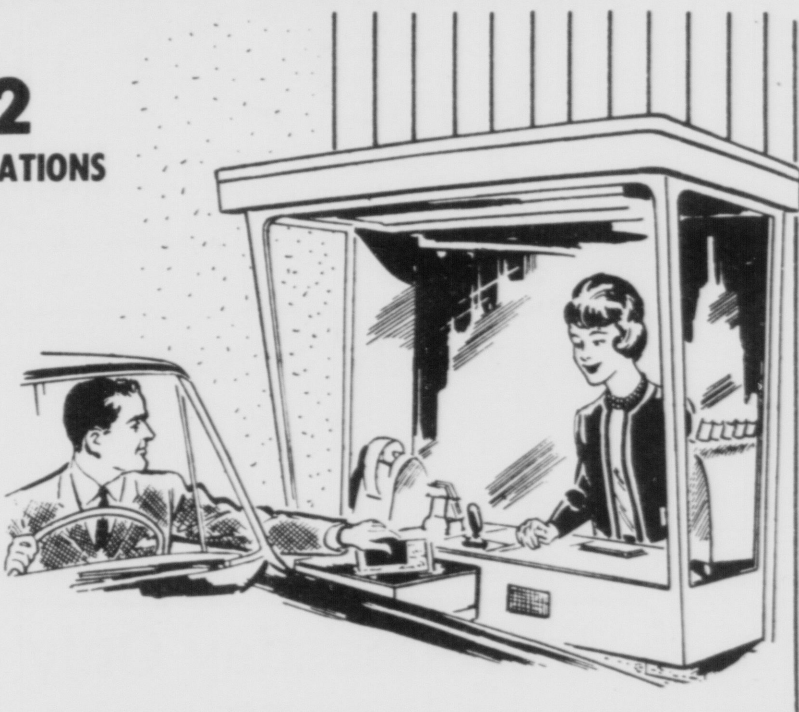

Merman's "I Got Rhythm," Larry Hooper solos "This Old House," and Ken Delo and Jack Imel offer Debbie Reynolds' "Tammy."

Tanya Welk's solo is Ruth Etting's noted hit of the '30s, "Mean to Me," and Tom Netherton's is "Secret Love." Gail Farrell romps across the honkytonk keyboard recalling JoAnn Castle with "Honeysuckle Rose" and the entire company assembles to vocalize "God Bless America" as the show's finale.

Ann-Margaret salutes three movie queens

Ann-Margret's newest musical-variety special, "Ann-Margret Olsson," will be color-cast on NBC Thursday, 8-9 p.m. The Osmonds and Tina Turner (of the Ike & Tina Turner Revue) are Ann-Margret's guests on the show, which will be the third special on NBC-TV in three consecutive seasons for the actress-dancer-singer.

In one highlight of the hour, Ann-Margret is spotlighted in production numbers in which she salutes three movie pinup queens of the 1940's: Betty Grable, Rita Hayworth and Esther Williams. She sings such songs as "GI Jive" (as Betty Grable), "Heat Wave" and "The Heat Is On" (as Rita Hayworth). In a water ballet sequence, she appears as Esther Williams, while the chorus offers "Pagan Love Song" and "Moon of Manakora." Also during the hour, Ann-Margret pays tribute to Marilyn Monroe.

"Ann-Margret Olsson" was directed by Dwight Hemion. The script was written by Marty Farrell. Roger Smith and Allan Carr are executive producers. Gary Smith and Hemion are the producers.

Special musical material was prepared by Larry Grossman. Jack Parnell is music director and Rob Iscoe is the choreographer. The special is an ATV Color Production in association with RSVP Incorporated, for ITC Worldwide Distribution.

THE PERFUME FOR THE INDIVIDUALIST
Recently 450 wealthy Parisiennes, considered trend setters in style, took part in a survey conducted in and around Paris.

The women were asked to take a blindfold test of six famous French fragrances and they were asked to give the names of the fragrances they preferred and were currently using.

The results were astonishing. Caleche, by the House of Hermes, topped both lists: for being the fragrance most used and for being the number one favorite choice, as in the blindfold test. Since everyone loves a winner, I suggest that you buy and try Caleche.

There are 13 pulse points and Caleche will develop and bloom to its total perfection when it is applied directly to a pulse point.

An ever so elegant grande woman who has bought and used Caleche (since Kline's Cosmetic Dept. has been selling this elegant perfume), said "I like to place my Caleche perfume wherever I may be kissed." A unique theory indeed.

Caleche is a perfume that calls to mind many lovely scenes. Let us close our eyes and dream, let us drive slowly in an open carriage through beautiful parks and gardens of France and breathe in the verdant scent of woods and flowers.

Rich and woodsy, fresh and youthful, Caleche is a subtle, feminine, intriguing floral blend of jasmine, rose, iris, lily of the valley, gardenia and lilac. Added to these is the crisp scent of pine, a gentle touch of patchouli and precious notes of musk and amber give Caleche its lasting power. So skillfully is it blended that one is not conscious of any single floral note; rather, Caleche has a personality all its own.

Fresh and distinctive Caleche, the individualist's scent, never overwhelms the wearer or those around her. It is wonderfully adaptable, versatile and appropriate anywhere, anytime.

Stop at the cosmetic department at Kline's and test this elegant perfume. You will be glad you did.

If any of my customers use Caleche now, and I know there are a lot, when you are in Kline's please stop at the cosmetic department and tell me or the girls at the cosmetic department. We want your name and address to send in to Parfums Hermes in Paris.

Ethiopia, the Hidden City on Ch. 9 special

Though Ethiopia has been the scene of innumerable wars, invasions, and trade and diplomatic missions from Biblical times to the present, cartographers have yet to capture its rugged terrain accurately on paper. Aided by helicopters and electronics, and with support from Emperor Selassie, mapmakers in recent years have embarked on the first complete topographical survey of this East African kingdom. The task will require several more years and the National Geographic special, "Ethiopia: The Hidden Empire," graphically shows why during the telecast of Sunday at 5:30 p.m. on channel 9.

The one-hour film ranges from arid deserts that dip to 381 feet below sea level in the Danakil Depression to the 15,158-foot-high mountain, Ras Dashan, in Ethiopia's western highlands. Before the color cameras, Ethiopia unfolds as a land of harsh contrasts where temperatures soar above 120 degrees Fahrenheit on salt plains, chill winds whip steep mountain trails, and the blue Nile winds through deep gorges.

From the mists of antiquity and legend, Ethiopia emerges as a mosaic of diverse peoples who speak more than 70 languages and follow Christian, Jewish, Moslem, and pagan religions.

Clutching round shields, their colorful robes flowing, Amhara warriors of the Imperial Guard gallop across the screen to hurl their lances at imaginary foes in a demonstration of the horsemanship that won them dominance centuries ago.

Until 50 years ago, the Amharagovernedandsoldiered, spurning commerce as beneath them. Today, Amharic merchants compete in Addis Ababa with hard-working Gurages and Tigreans.

The Amhara and Tigreans, who comprise about 30 per cent of Ethiopia's estimated 22,000,000 population, moved into what is now Ethiopia from southern Arabia thousands of years ago. Semitic peoples, they are Caucasians.

Miss Behle weds Gary Johnson

Miss Charlotte Ann Behle, daughter of the Eldon Behles, Elkhart, and Gary Burton Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Johnson, Rt. 5, Princeton, exchanged marriage vows at 4 p.m. Jan. 4 in the historic Chapel on the Hill, Elkhart.

The Rev. Patrick Cox, Elkhart, and the Rev. Harold Schlink, Princeton, officiated, and the nuptial organist, Mrs. Melvin Grossman, Ohio, accompanied a vocal selection by Michael Van Blaricum, Urbana.

Altar Flowers
An arrangement of red and white carnations surrounded by pine boughs centered the church altar, which was flanked by white tapers in antique iron candelabra, and lighted candles trimmed with red velvet bows and pine boughs were placed in the sanctuary windows.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of ivory sata peau which she designed and made. The gown's bodice featured an embroidered wedding ring collar and leg-o-mutton sleeves, and her chapel-length veil of illusion was attached to a headpiece of jeweled petals. The locket watch she wore was a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried a crocheted handkerchief, a gift from the bridegroom's grandmother. Her bridal bouquet combined white carnations and baby's breath tied with white satin ribbons.

Miss Marsha Schuttler, Elkhart, maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Bonnie McAdams, Round Lake, wore identical full-length gowns of pine-green velvet styled with empire bodices featuring long sleeves ending in wide cuffs. White carnations, baby's breath and silk illusion fashioned their headresses, and the flower girl, Miss Amy Coers, Sterling, wore a similar headpiece with her long frock of green velvet.

Richard Grossman, Evans-ton, served as the bridegroom's best man; Donald Behle, Urbana, brother of the bride, acted

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — I do not know how to get my fuzzy-wuzzy bedroom slippers clean without ruining their looks and shape. Does anyone know how to clean them? — CONNIE.

DEAR CONNIE — I think Pauline's letter that follows could be your answer. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Someone asked how to clean fake fur hats. The way I wash mine makes them look almost better than new. I wash them in that liquid used for wool and wring them out and then set on a can or wig form to dry. (Polly's note — Slippers could be tightly stuffed with crushed white paper.) While the hat is drying I keep brushing it with an old toothbrush every hour or so. From time to time I also remove it from the form, shake, put back and keep brushing until dry. — PAULINE.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with children's crayons that break so easily. It seems the manufacturers could coat them with plastic so that we would not have to keep buying new crayons for our wee ones. — INEZ.

Lincoln School PTO meeting

A meeting for the Lincoln Elementary School Parent-Teacher Organization is planned for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the school when the program will feature a "student talent show."

Mrs. Edward Dalke, chairman of the hostess committee, will be assisted by Mrs. Donald Robertson, Mrs. Earl Bartlett, Mrs. Albert Kennedy, Mrs. William Waltz and Mrs. George Feczko.

Prevent stains

Perfumes, medicines, beverages and other liquids containing alcohol can quickly cause irreparable damage because alcohol has a tendency to dissolve the finish of your wood furniture. Always wipe up such spills as quickly as possible. If the finish has been protected with wax, immediate attention may prevent a spot. But if damage does occur it is often possible to make repairs. One method is to dip your finger in a liquid or paste floor wax used for wood, or in linseed oil, silver polish or even moistened cigar ash, and rub over the damaged area. Then re wax with furniture wax.

Grange party

The Rock River Grange has planned a card party for 8 p.m. Saturday in the Grange Hall.

as groomsmen, and 100 guests were ushered by Robert Behle, Elkhart, also a brother of the bride. Participating as ring-bearer was Aaron Coers, Sterling.

The double-ring ceremony was followed by a reception and buffet dinner in Elkhart United Methodist Church when 250 guests were registered by Miss Nancy Butell, college classmate of the bride.

On Jan. 5 the newlyweds were honored at an additional reception in the Holiday Inn, Princeton, when Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Grossman, Ohio, served as hosts. Miss Elaine Grossman, Ohio, registered 250 guests, and a tiered wedding cake centered by a fountain was served by Mrs. Virgil Polson, Tiskilwa, and Mrs. John H. Andersen, Warner Robins, Ga. Coffee and punch were poured by the bridegroom's aunts, Mrs. Charles Johnson and Mrs. William Brierton, Franklin Grove, and presiding at the gift table were Miss Judy Richards, Princeton, and Miss Vicki Allen, Dixon.

Members of the bridal party were also entertained at a rehearsal dinner hosted by the bridegroom's parents Jan. 2 at Guzzardos Italian Village in Lincoln.

To Wisconsin
Since their wedding trip to Chanticleer Resort, Eagle River, Wis., the newlyweds have been residing at 202 S. Lincoln St., Urbana.

The bride, a 1971 graduate of Elkhart High School, received a degree in agricultural science last month at the University of Illinois, where she is presently employed by the university's international soybean program.

Mr. Johnson, a 1970 graduate of Wyandot High School, earned a degree in engineering physics in 1974 at the University of Illinois, where he is now enrolled in courses for a master's degree and is a teacher's assistant in the university physics department. He is also affiliated with Phi Kappa Phi, Tau Beta Pi and Phi Eta Sigma honorary fraternities.

MR. AND MRS. GARY B. JOHNSON

Dear Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: A love-starved divorcee attempted or, more accurately, pretended to attempt suicide to get attention from my husband, on whom she has a heavy crush. (He is an internist.) She swallowed a half bottle of sleeping pills and telephoned our home during dinner, told him what she had done and announced, "I have nothing to live for." I think if she had really meant to kill herself she would have taken twice as many pills and not telephoned anyone.

My husband rushed to this nut's home (not far from here) and drove her to the emergency room of the hospital and had her stomach pumped. Of course, she was delighted with the attention.

Last Friday she phoned at midnight with the same story, but my husband was out on an emergency so I called the Police Rescue Squad and asked them to go over and get her and take her to the hospital.

The next day, all hell broke loose. The woman threatened to sue me for humiliating her and embroiling her in "bad publicity." My husband says I should have phoned another physician. He feels sorry for the woman. — Min.

Dear Min: That lady needs another doctor all right — a psychiatrist. And your husband should inform her that she is no longer his patient. A physician who permits such dependency is actually encouraging the patient, whether he realizes it or not. This is not ethical medicine.

Dear Ann Landers: Thank you for publishing the attorney's letter relating to the indifference of young kids today towards the elders in the family circle.

I'm in the same boat. I have an estate worth about $75,000 and no one to leave it to. Oh,

The special finesse did it

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Dr. John Fisher of Dallas is known to be a rather slow player. His partners don't mind this slowness because, after he gets through thinking, John has a habit of coming up with the right play.

Against the expected spade lead John would have had no real problem. He would simply draw trumps; discard one club loser on the king of hearts and eventually set up dummy's fifth heart for a second discard. All this while ruffing his last two spades with dummy's third and fourth trump.

The king of clubs lead was bothersome. He had to get rid of his two losing clubs before he could play a spade.

He played a heart to the ace, discarded one club on the king of hearts, ruffed a heart, thought for some time, led a low diamond and finessed dummy's nine. If the finesse had lost to the jack he would have been down two, but the finesse worked and East followed. Now John ruffed another heart with the ace of trumps, entered dummy with the queen, discarded his last club on the last heart and conceded a spade.

His special finesse was the correct play. We'll explain why tomorrow. 17 (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Mrs. Brauer presents Nachusa Chapter program

Mrs. Verne Johnson recently entertained the Questers Club Nachusa Chapter when Mrs. Robert Brauer presented a program on "Turn-of-the-Century Supermarket."

Mrs. Brauer's father, Lee Hayes Burr, and his six brothers operated a large grocery establishment in Rockford. The first Burr Brothers Grocery Store was located in the 100 block of S. Main St., and stock included fancy canned foods, fresh fruits and produce. Vinegar was dispensed into the customer's own container, and cranberries were measured by the quart. Sidewalk grates were removed to permit the delivery of merchandise to the basement level for storage, and the store interior featured a demonstration booth, where trimley dressed young ladies promoted the sale of special items by distributing samples of new products. They were attired in long black dresses and white starched "bib" aprons, and they served customers breakfast cereals in custard ramekins, beef bouillon in china cups and muffins with marmalade. Mrs. Brauer recalled hearing of the time "Aunt Jemima" baked and served dollar-sized pancakes with melted butter and maple syrup.

The Burr Brothers Store also stocked hand-operated wringers for washing clothes, scrub boards, ice cream freezers and wood chopping bowls. At one time the store also sold Haviland china, and coffee and tea were blended to please the customer. In a "coffee room" customers of the store could sample the blends to determine their preference. Coffee, sugar and flour were purchased in enormous quantities and dill pickles were bought by the barrel.

Chocolate popcorn

By AILEEN CLAIRE
Family nibblers and guests always go for popcorn. So try a different treat the next time you get out the corn popper. Mix a batch of Chocolate Coated Popcorn and watch it disappear. When making many batches of popcorn, keep it fresh by sealing popped corn in a plastic bag or a coated brown paper bag.

CHOCOLATE COATED POPCORN
2 quarts freshly popped corn
1 cup light corn syrup
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons margarine
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted

Put popped corn in large bowl big enough to hold twice the amount. Set aside. In heavy 3-quart saucepan, stir together corn syrup, sugar, water and margarine. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Continue cooking, without stirring, until temperature reaches 290-degrees on candy thermometer or until a small amount of mixture dropped into very cold water separates into threads which are hard but not brittle. Remove from heat. Add melted chocolate; blend well. Slowly pour the hot mixture over the popped corn, stirring constantly until the corn is uniformly covered. Turn coated corn onto a countertop or large tray. Working rapidly, separate the pieces and spread on trays until cold. Makes about 2 1/2 quarts. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Grant to shut down 126 stores

NEW YORK (AP) — A projected $175 million loss for fiscal 1974 will force the W.T. Grant Co. to shut 126 stores and lay off 12,600 employees, the firm reports.

The company, whose 1974 fiscal year ends Jan. 31, said the closings will take place during calendar 1975.

Grant announced 66 of the closings two weeks ago. The company said Thursday it would close 162 more stores in 1976.

The nation's 16th largest retailer, Grant has 1,188 stores. Chairman John G. Kendrick said the company wanted to cut to a "hard core" of about 900 outlets.

Announcement of the closings was made after a meeting with several banks that have loaned Grant a total of $600 million. They agreed to let Grant postpone payment of interest on the loan, and they reduced the interest rate to 5 per cent.

The company has sales of about $1.7 billion annually.

Supermarket clerk sees her job as a challenge

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — In these days of skyrocketing prices and outraged consumers, Maria Morabito's job as a supermarket checkout clerk provides her with a consummate test of skill and patience.

Like thousands of cash register clerks across the country, 18-year-old Maria must stand for two-hour stretches without a break during her eight-hour shift. During this time, her eyes are glued to the passing parade of groceries and her hands are working in different directions — one sorting the items and the other punching the cash register keyboard.

If she goes too slow, the grocery carts begin to stack up. If she goes too fast, she may make a mistake.

"Many customers have started coming in with hand calculators," she said. "They're ready and waiting when I come up with a total ... some will argue for an hour over two cents."

Maria acknowledged that she is barraged with price complaints, but said she doesn't mind them too much.

"I sort of like it when they come in with their calculators," she said. "It's a challenge and I'm hardly ever wrong ... it gets hectic but it can be fun."

An employee of one of Huntington's Tradewell markets, Maria has been behind a register only since last summer. But Dora McLaughlin has been ringing up totals for 32 years.

"I check out an average of about 200 customers a day," she said. "The total number of accidents investigated by Ogle County Sheriff's Police for 1974 were 773, a substantial reduction of 174 from the previous year, which saw 947 reported accidents."

Of those 773 accidents, 180 were injury accidents and 576 were damaged accidents. Of the 947 accidents in 1973, 225 were injury accidents and 705 were damage accidents.

A reported 534 accidents were investigated by Sheriff's Police and 662 in 1973. State Police investigated 239 accidents in 1974 and 285 in 1973.

The highest number of accidents on state highways occurred on Ill. 2 between Grand Detour and Byron and on Ill. 64 between Oregon and DeKalb County Line.

The highest number of accidents on county roads was reported on Flagg Rd. from U.S. 51 to Lee County Line and on Pines Rd., from Oregon to Lowell Park Rd.

Friday and Saturday were the days of the week most accidents occurred. The hours of the day that most accidents occurred was reported between 11 p.m. and 12 midnight and from 6 o 7 p.m.

Anticipation warrants okayed at Mt. Morris

MT. MORRIS — A financial summary was given by the superintendent of Mt. Morris schools, indicating that there will be a need to borrow $100,000 in anticipation warrants either in February or March.

A resolution was passed to issue the warrants of $100,000 in the Education Fund by Mt. Morris school board members.

The superintendent recommended that the board invite the City Planning Commission to attend the February board meeting to give an explanation of the program and details on what they desire from the school system.

A discussion was held on the proposed school board policy in relation to student records. The policy had been presented at the last board meeting. Action was taken to adopt the recommendation.

The board agreed to take steps for the preparation of a tentative budget, to be prepared by the superintendent.

Figures were presented to the board as to the necessity of purchasing a new school bus for the coming school term. It was decided that action should be taken to call for bids on a new school bus to be purchased for the 1975-76 school term. Bids will be received at the February board meeting.

The Lions Club presented a proposal to the board, indicating that they would be willing to contribute funds to be used toward the purchase of a board which would be a roster of scores and fouls at basketball games and wrestling matches in the high school gym. The Lions Club would be willing to give $1,100 toward this project if the Board of Education would assume the remainder of the cost. There was also discussion of another possible $500 gift toward this project. The board then agreed to purchase the new scoreboard and accept the gift of $1,100 from the Lions Club.

The board appointed the superintendent of the schools as a representative from the Mt. Morris School Board of Education to the Kable Scholarship Board.

The board heard reports from several people.

Alice Crowell, media center specialist in the elementary building, gave a presentation of the media center program in operation. It was an educational type program which illustrated the type of material available in the elementary media center. Mel Burkhalter, co-op ag teacher between Mt. Morris and Oregon, presented a program illustrating the background of the ag program as it now exists in the co-op.

A workshop was held on Jan. 13 and it was reported by all board members that the workshop was a success and there was an indication that further similar work should be done.

The school board election will be held April 12. There will be three positions open at that time. The positions of Robert Urish, Charles Diehl and Duane Kleckler will be up for re-election.

Authorities questioned Brimhall about his activities on the night of the robbery and, after investigating Brimhall's story and further questioning of the witnesses, he was released.

Ministerial group to assist police

ROCHELLE — Police Chief Winston Brass met with a representative of the Rochelle Ministerial Committee and discussed setting up a program of non-police cases for persons in need of consultation.

Brass said ministers will work with the police department, not only in the area of domestic problems, but they will go to their separate congregations to ask help in obtaining temporary housing for children or persons needing temporary shelter in cases of accidents or other domestic matters.

The Ministerial Committee will set up a schedule of on-call ministers who will be available to the police department when needed.

Holtzman out to attract Hollywood movie producers

SPARTA, Ill. (AP) — People here still talk about the time Sidney Poitier and Rod Steiger came to town to shoot the movie "In the Heat of the Night," winner of the Academy Award for best picture of the year in 1967.

"It was a very exciting time. The people very much enjoyed the experience," says Sparta Mayor Delbert Hayer. I get inquiries from people in town all the time. I don't think there's any question that we'd like to do it again."

Sparta, however, is one of the few towns in Illinois where recent major motion pictures have been filmed, although portions of "The Sting," 1973's picture of the year, were shot in Chicago.

Richard M. Holtzman, 23, a former advance man for Gov. Daniel Walker, wants to change all this and give more Illinois towns and cities a taste of Hollywood's glitter, glamour and gold.

"We're out to change the image filmmakers have that Illinois is just Chicago and a vast field of corn," said Holtzman, head of the new Illinois Film Services division of the state Department of Business and Economic Development.

"Illinois has a tremendous variety of scenery. There literally hasn't been a major film in recent years that couldn't have been shot in the state," he said in an interview.

With a budget of $25,000 for the six months remaining in fiscal 1975 and a staff of two, Holtzman said his first job would be to prepare a catalog of state services available to film production companies.

"People in Hollywood have the image that the state of Illinois and the city of Chicago are uncooperative and that it's hard to shoot a film in the state," he said.

Holtzman still broods about the fact that the popular television show "The Streets of San Francisco" was originally conceived as "The Streets of Chicago."

He said the idea of producing the TV series in Chicago was abandoned because of the city's reputation for censoring scripts, holding up production and demanding large fees.

recently hired a film coordinator to encourage movie and television companies to work in the city.

But despite this new effort, Holtzman said, only three or and shows Newhart boarding a Chicago Transit Authority train, Holtzman said the program is actually produced in Hollywood.

In addition to providing glamour and excitement, having a film or television company in town can contribute substantially to the local economy, Holtzman said.

"Take an average feature-length film with a $2 million budget. Industry figures show that an average of 35 to 40 percent of that budget is spent in the local community," he said.

Holtzman said some 15 other states already have set up similar offices to lure movie and television production.

"Arizona is probably the leading state outside California," he said. "But other states have really been working on this, some with fantastic results."

Holtzman said Georgia, with personal help from Gov. Jimmy Carter, attracted 26 movies to the state in 1974, including one called "The Longest Yard," which was filmed in one of the state's prisons.

Although the governor's office inspired the new film division, there are no current plans for Walker to go to Hollywood to ballyhoo the attractions of Illinois, Holtzman said.

But he said efforts were under way to form an advisory board composed of movie and television stars from Illinois, people like Rock Hudson, Charlton Heston and Ann Margret.

"Illinois is the industrial film capital of the world. We have the talent, the supplies and the facilities here for feature films," Holtzman said.

"Right now we're talking to three major production companies, one of them is very interested in shooting in Southern Illinois. They're excited about our interest in having them come here," he said. "We think that if we can spread the word that we are interested and co-operative others will follow."

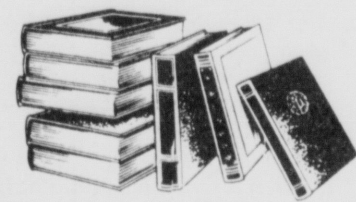

Illinois Focus

"I think there's been a real change in the past couple of years and that reputation isn't deserved any more," Holtzman said.

He said the mayor's office four feature-length films were made in Chicago in 1974.

School tax hike sought in Steward

STEWART—The Stewart Elementary School Board voted unanimously for a second effort to seek a 35-cent increase in the educational tax fund at its meeting Wednesday night.

The tax referendum would raise the tax from the current 92 cents per $100 assessed valuation to $1.27 per $100 assessed valuation.

The board expressed its opinion that the initial planning for the first referendum spelled out clearly the financial needs of the district. The board considered all aspects of the budget and feels it is asking for only the needed increase.

Other factors which influenced the board decision on a second referendum, included the commitment to provide a strong educational program for the children of the district. Also influencing the decision was the threat of reorganization and annexation with another school district, realizing the Stewart residents would have to absorb the other district's tax rate which in most cases has a rate higher than the proposed increase.

The results of an attitude survey sent to the people of the community revealed the attitudes of the people overwhelmingly supported the second referendum. The feedback from these people felt they better understood the referendum and support of the increase.

The board has planned a series of public hearings on the referendum to allow the community to discuss the financial needs of the district with the board.

Ogle begins grant plan for Civil Defense groups

A grant program for Civil Defense units in communities under 1,000 population was announced today by Ogle County Civil Defense Director Robert Bennett and Assistant Director John P. Moore.

The Ogle County Board in its 1975 budget approved funds for a grant program which will provide funds to assist Civil Defense agencies in the purchase of warning sirens, emergency generators and communications equipment for use during storms and disasters.

The grant program is open to communities under 1,000 population with existing Civil Defense organizations or to communities that are just forming Civil Defense groups. There will be two grants of $500 each.

The Ogle County Council of Civil Defense Directors, composed of Civil Defense Directors of Ogle County, Byron, Polo, Forreston, Oregon, Rochelle, Mt. Morris, Leaf River and Grand Detour, last year determined that developing warning systems for alerting citizens to approaching storms was a top priority item throughout the county.

At that time the Ogle County

Sheriff's Department initiated an Emergency Alert Radio System which broadcasts storm warnings to hospitals, recreational areas, schools, etc., throughout the county. Also, the use of the "yelper" siren on all emergency vehicles throughout the county was voluntarily adopted as a storm warning signal. The new grant program is designed to expand the emergency warning capabilities.

Communities interested in applying for grant funds or who wish further information on Civil Defense may contact Assistant Director Moore at the Ogle County Sheriff's department (732-2136).

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-653: Rev. Phillip Blake is pastor of the "Big Lake Church of God" in northeastern Indiana.

Recently Mrs. Crane and I were there for the funeral of her Aunt Eileen Humbarger.

Rev. Blake greeted me cordially, for he was in the seminary at Anderson College when I spoke there a few years ago.

"Dr. Crane," he said, "I'd like for you and Mrs. Crane to stop for a few minutes to see our new church building."

"It is really beautiful and was designed by a famous church architect, Robert Foltz of South Bend."

Mrs. Crane and I were delighted with the large sanctuary, with padded seats and an unusually long pew near the back.

"Dr. Crane," the pastor explained, "that giant pew will seat 18 people, for it is 24 feet long, which is as long as the fire regulations permit."

"As you can see, we have no center aisle but only a side aisle at each end of the long center pews."

"And our walls at the rear are non-supportive for they can then be removed if we need to extend the sanctuary to add more seating space."

"Thus, the pulpit and main sanctuary don't need to be touched in case we wish a quick expansion at the back."

"For within a matter of a few days, carpenters can then add many new pews at the rear without interfering with our Sunday services."

"Dr. Crane, I have been able to capitalize on that extra-long pew."

"For I assign it to a different family each week and they are to try to fill it with guests, including local folks who don't attend church anywhere."

"The response has been phenomenal, too, for the average of such newcomers in that long pew has been 16."

"The opening Sunday of this friendly contest, our sponsoring family brought in four newcomers.

"Shortly thereafter, we had 23 present, who had never been in our church before."

"They had to overflow into the adjacent pew, since only 18 could squeeze into the big one."

"Then we were all surprised and thrilled when a family brought in a total of 49, which set the record!"

"In fact, it somewhat disheartened some of our families, for they figured they could never exceed that number."

"But that 49 came from various surrounding towns, maybe as a family reunion group."

"Dr. Crane, you can see that we are a rural church, situated out here in the country not even near any village, but we are on a state highway."

"Our Sunday attendance runs almost 200, and our church membership, has increased by 50 since just one year ago."

"I also try to follow your psychological rules for making an interesting sermon and for capitalizing on wholesome rivalry or zestful competition."

"In your seminary address, you stressed the value of smiles, plus compliments, memorizing names and faces and delivering Christ's narrative type of sermon."

"... certainly work beautifully."

If you other clergymen wish the complete formula for zooming church membership, send for my booklet "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

Proposal would sprout poor health care

CHICAGO (AP) — The president of the Illinois State Medical Society says the elderly and the poor would be forced to accept second-class health care under a federal proposal to limit prescription drug costs.

"It appears that HEW is more concerned with reducing costs than with upgrading the quality of patient care," Dr. Frederic D. Lake of Evanston, ISMS president, asserted Wednesday in a letter to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Under proposed HEW regulations, pharmacists filling prescriptions for Medicare-Medicaid patients would be required to substitute a cheaper chemical equivalent if the prescribed drug is more expensive than HEW's ceiling price.

"Forcing these patients to accept an inferior drug relegates them to second-class citizens and directly contradicts Medicare-Medicaid provisions of the Social Security Act developed to insure high quality care for the elderly and indigent," Lake said.

Studies have shown, he said, that drug substitution can be harmful because the so-called chemically equivalent drugs do not produce the same therapeutic effect in patients.

"Two brands of the same drug may contain equivalent amounts of an active ingredient, but different manufacturing processes can limit or increase their effectiveness," he added.

The proposed regulations, he averred, "will supercede the physician's clinical judgment and force patients to accept an inferior substitute—possibly with unfortunate results."

Under proposed HEW regulations, pharmacists filling pre-

A girl named Gary?

By MIKE CUNIFF

It is a good thing the Dixon Girls Interscholastic Bowling team does not have to have sex tests like those required in the Olympics before the squad can take to the alleys. Several of the members of the Dixon team would certainly flunk the physical.

To be specific: Gary Glaser, Joe Moine, Gene Joynt, Greg Oster and Dale Hohm would have trouble passing for girls. But, wait a minute, what team does the quintet bowl for? The GIRLS Interscholastic team? Why not the boys?

The answer is simple—there is no boys interscholastic bowling team. Therefore, if Glaser, Moine, Joynt, Oster and Hohm want the competitiveness of interscholastic bowling, they must do it on the girls team.

Dixon is unbeaten so far this season and Wednesday the school received permission from the state of Illinois, allowing the boys to enter the girls post-season tournament competition that begins Feb. 1.

Chuck Vail, Dixon High School athletic director, commented Thursday. "The background on the matter is we had at least two students in the school preparing to bring a suit against us, if necessary, to enable them the privilege of participating in the sport since we didn't offer bowling to the boys."

"I couldn't discourage them from participating," Vail continued, "and I in turn referred it to our principal, Dick Boyer, who handed it to the Dixon School Board. The state recommendation is if a school does not have a sport for the opposite sex, it must give permission for all to participate if it is not a contact sport."

"The School Board, rather than start a boys bowling team, decided to take the attitude to let the boys compete on the girls team. Mr. Boyer's and my hands were tied in the matter, so we adhered to the Board's decision."

"Five boys have been allowed to compete on the girls team and more boys would have (tried out) if we hadn't cut it off at five. The coach—Mona Hohm—also said she wouldn't be able to handle any more, since she had 20 bowlers at that point."

Vail continued, "I personally don't feel it is fair to the girls program to have boys on the team. Several girls who might have tried out were discouraged by the fact boys with higher averages could compete for spots on the team."

"There is a lot of interest in boys' bowling," admitted Vail. "Most of this is due to the (DHS) intramural bowling program run by Dave Berglund. He has approximately 80 boys and 20 girls in his intramurals. We didn't cut any girls from the interscholastic team," Vail went on, "but there might have been some who didn't come out because of the boys."

And how have the teams Dixon has been facing (and beating) reacted to the masculine members of the bowling squad. Needless to say, the vibrations have been anything but romantic. "The other opposing women coaches and teams are angry," Vail said.

"But we haven't had any meets cancelled because they wouldn't bowl us because of the boys. If they did decide not to bowl us, a suit could be brought against them."

"I just hope we can get a boys program in," Vail continued, "in order to protect the girls program. Two archers in the state meet this fall were boys and they won two places, so other sports have the same problems."

Vail, upon finding out Dixon was to be involved in the DeKalb District, called Bob Heimerding, District manager, to ask if permission was granted for the boys to bowl in the tournament series. Heimerding, in turn, phoned Harry Fitzhugh, executive secretary of the Illinois High School Association.

Fitzhugh gave the okay for Dixon to compete with its coed team this year.

The Dixon-Princeton game would probably not rate "Game of the Week" honors by an area newspaper but, since it is an NCIC contest, it will command interest beginning at 8 p.m. today in Lancaster Gymnasium. The sophomore game begins at 6:30.

Dixon will be trying to snap an eight-game losing streak and notch its second conference victory of the season. The Ducks are 1-3 in NCIC play and 1-12 overall. Princeton is 0-4 in conference and 2-8 for the season.

Starters for Princeton will be 5'11" senior Dave Darling and 6'0" junior Dave Lowdermilk at guards, 6'1" junior Paul Johnson and 6'2" senior Rick Sapp at forwards, with 6'3" senior John Maller in the pivot.

Final profits for the Dixon Boosters Club Chili Supper the past Saturday are $575.20. A total of 525 people was served at the supper.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers are one of 11 National Football League teams that have collected extra draft choices for the annual NFL player draft, set for Jan. 28 here.

The Steelers have 21 picks in the 17-round draft.

The Los Angeles Rams have three first-round choices and have 11 selections over the first five rounds. Dallas, Houston and San Diego have two first-round picks each.

The New York Giants and the Baltimore Colts, tied at 2-12 with the worst records of the 1974 season, will flip a coin Sunday to see who gets the No. 1 pick in the draft. The Giants, however, have already dealt their first-round pick to Dallas in exchange for quarterback Craig Morton.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ten St. Louis Cardinals, including 1974 National League Rookie of the Year Bake McBride and slick-fielding third baseman Ken Reitz, have signed their 1974 baseball contracts.

Other Cardinals in the latest group announced as having signed their contracts include left-handed pitcher Claude Oster, first baseman Ron Fairly and outfielder Larry Herndon.

THE OHIO seventh grade cheerleaders received the trophy they recently won as champions at the Sauk Valley College Cheerleading Clinic during a pep rally at Ohio. Due to the absence of the Sauk Valley Cheerleaders, the trophy was presented by Mrs. Don Townsend, the girls' cheerleading sponsor at Ohio. The program had originally been postponed due to bad weather, thus making it difficult for the Sauk Valley group to be present. Mendota advances to finals

After losing the first game 15-10, Mendota rallied to take the next two games by scores of 15-4 and 15-13 to defeat La Salle-Peru at Lancaster Gymnasium, here, Thursday night and advance to the championship game of the Dixon Sectional.

Mendota will meet Dixon in the title contest, beginning at 7:30 on Saturday. The winner of that match will meet West Rockford in Supersectional competition next Tuesday at Dixon. Mendota was led by the service points of Pitstick, who collected one in the first game, five in the second and six in the decisive game.

Martin and Fritz got eight apiece. The former had six in the middle game and one each in the first and third, while Fritz had five points in the opening contest, two in the second and one in the third. Beals added seven, with three each in the first and third games, while Terry had one in the second game and four in the third for a total of five.

Edgcomb was the leading point-getter for L-P, with eight total and six in the opening game win. Weber and Cherney tacked on seven apiece. Weber had five and Cherney six in the third game. Siembab had six, all in the first game. Funsinn and Morel added two each.

Redmen's balanced scoring accounts for Arrowhead win

SAUK VALLEY — The Sauk Valley Redmen saw a 10-point lead cut to one in the last six minutes of the game against Carl Sandburg, here, Thursday night, but hung on to pull out a three-point Arrowhead Conference victory. The Redmen won 85-82, despite cold shooting that persisted throughout the night.

The Carl Sandburg Chargers fouled heavily during the game. Of the eight players that were in the game at one time or another, two fouled out and four had four apiece. These fouls proved crucial in the last minute of the game. The Redmen fouled less, but they lost both centers Tim Granzow and Mike Friedlein on personal fouls.

The Sauk defense found it difficult to block out 285 pound center Steve Mixon. The high scorer of the game with 30 points, his height and weight gave Mixon the advantage under the basket. Both teams used man-to-man defense throughout the game.

Sauk scored the first points of the game on a bucket from John Windham. The Chargers matched it with one from Greg Metz. Mixon put Carl Sandburg ahead with his first field goal but Tim Granzow tied it with his. The Chargers went ahead again on Brian Soule's basket, making the score 6-4. Another shot from Granzow ended the short-lived lead three minutes into the game.

With five and a half minutes left in the half, Mixon hit from under the basket to cut the margin to 28-25. Granzow a few seconds later put the lead back to five points on a field goal. Granzow scored again to make the score 32-25. Charger Waymond Hamilton was fouled while shooting by Tom Zinanni who also got a technical out of it. Hamilton hit both of his regular free throws but missed the technical. Mike Stockwell increased the margin to 34-27 on his bucket. Mixon cut the lead again when he sank a field goal, soule stole the ball again from Paisley and drove for two points on a lay-up to put the Chargers ahead.

Carl Sandburg's lead did not last long, however. With 1:52 left in the half, Hook sank two free throws to tie the score. Friedlein added a basket to put Sauk ahead. Zinanni sank another field goal which was matched by one from Hamilton. In the last minute of the half, two free throws from Zinanni and a bucket from Stockwell put the half time score at 44-38. The Chargers got on the boards first in the second half when Mixon dumped a bucket to reduce Sauk's lead to four. The Redmen did not get into the scoring part of the game for a minute and a half when Zinanni hit from the outside. Neither side scored for almost a minute until Mixon sank one of two free throws. Granzow fouled out immediately afterwards. Friedlein hit for a bucket to make the score 48-41. Hook and Windham dumped a bucket apiece in quick succession to increase the margin to 52-41. For the next 10 minutes, the Redmen kept this lead over the Chargers. They out-scored Sandburg easily and their defense didn't slacken.

"We played good the first half," Palumbo added. "They pressured us the second half but we didn't fold." Zinanni was the top Redmen scorer with 21 points. Hook was second with 19, while Paisley and Friedlein tied for third with 11 apiece.

Mixon was the highest Charger scorer with 30 points. Soule was second with 18, and Gaty Vilardo third with 11. The Redmen have a pair of games next week, travel to Canton to meet Spoon River on Tuesday before returning home to tangle with Kishwaukee on Thursday.

"Thank God for Tom Zinanni" was Sauk coach Frank Palumbo's comment about the game. "He was the only one who didn't lose his head. He provided us with the leadership we needed." He went on to say that Zinanni came through on scoring when it was vital.

NORMAL—Championship games in the Illinois High School Association Football Playoffs will remain at Hancock Stadium on the Illinois State University campus in 1975. The announcement was made jointly this week by Harry Fitzhugh, executive secretary of the IHSA, and Warren Schmackel, athletic director at Illinois State. Championships will be determined in five classes on Nov. 21-22. The IHSA inaugurated the football playoff system in 1974, and held its first title games at Hancock Stadium.

"Our board of directors was well pleased with the splendid job that Illinois State University did in hosting the state finals," Fitzhugh said. "We see no reason to change the site as long as the facilities can accommodate the playoffs." Hancock Stadium has an AstroTurf playing surface and a seating capacity of 15,000.

Rock Island line faces bankruptcy without loan

CHICAGO (AP) — Unless the federal government gives quick approval of a $100 million loan guarantee the Rock Island Lines faces abandonment of its entire 7,500-mile railroad system, the company's president says.

John W. Ingram, the new president of the 123-year-old company, said Wednesday that without the loan the Rock Island will have to reduce operations and after six months will begin studying how to peddle its assets to the highest bidder.

He said if the line has to go into bankruptcy he doubts whether a trustee would be able to salvage it and liquidation would follow.

Ingram said, "I'm not trying to snow anybody—the books are open for anybody who wants to look at them."

He said the U. S. Railway Association is expected to consider the loan Friday, but the USRA—the agency created by Congress to reorganize the Penn Central and six other distressed northeastern roads into the Conrail system—said no decision would be made by then.

"This is a critical time—we are where the Penn Central Transportation Co. was one year before it went bankrupt," he said.

He said the loan could make the Rock Island profitable and would be used primarily to upgrade track. He stressed that the road is not seeking a "handout" and said he was confident the loan could be repaid and with confidence re-stored new loans could be made through regular channels.

"Anything less than a $100 million loan would be patch-work and not repair," he added.

The Rock Island has been in the red the last eight years and Ingram said it lost a record $22 million last year and 1975 is no brighter.

Ingram said the Rock Island cannot expect salvation in a merger with the Union Pacific Railroad which was approved in November by the Interstate Commerce Commission after an 11-year wait. He foresees another two to four years of legal wrangling before consummation of a merger.

"Frankly, the merger has always been 'just around the corner' and we can't wait any longer," he said. "We have to begin the rebuilding process right now."

He said bankruptcy would be futile and would only lighten the company's financial load by $2 million a year—just barely enough to meet a two-week payroll.

If the loan is not forthcoming, he said, "the Northeast rail crisis will extend all the way to Tucumcari, N. M." Tucumcari is the western terminus of the widespread Rock Island system which laces the grain belt, serving 13 states with main lines running from Chicago to the Southwest, from Minneapolis to the Gulf of Mexico, from St. Louis to Denver and from Memphis to Amarillo, Tex.

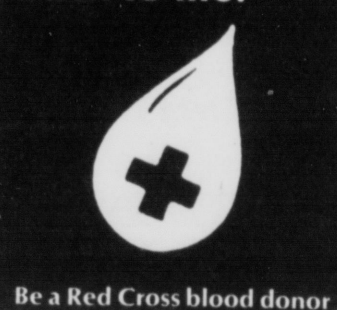

Also 700 communities depend on the line for freight service and thousands of commuters rely on it service between Chicago and Joliet.

Ingram said that with the loan the Rock Island could turn its Chicago-to-Fort Worth route into a 65 mile-an-hour line with centralized traffic control and begin repairing 2,000 freight cars now unfit for service.

He said the loan also would lead to modernizing yards in Des Moines, Kansas City and Herington, Kan., as well as in Rock Island and Blue Island in Illinois.

CIA will get its day in court if one congressional critic of the intelligence agency has his way. Rep. Michael J. Harrington (D-Mass.) is filing suit in U.S. District Court against CIA Director William Colby, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and Secretary of the Treasury William Simon to enjoin counter-intelligence activities in the United States.

Remodeling okayed at Oregon H.S.

OREGON — The Board of Education of Oregon Community Unit School, at an adjourned meeting on Tuesday night, accepted the low bid of $60,953 of Robert Stenstrom, Rockford for remodeling of the central kitchen at Oregon High School.

The base bid was $62,464 and there were five deducts of $1,511, namely elimination of tile in rest rooms $674, flexible connector $6, plastic vent pipe $480, additional ventilating devices $250 and wood shelving removal $101.

The completion date is 90 days. There were seven bidders for the project. The central kitchen remodeling is financed by Fire and Safety Funds.

The board accepted the low bid of $410,625 of Cheeseman Construction, Freeport for their Special Education Building, pending the approval of the Governing Board of Ogle County Special Education Cooperative.

Completion date is 220 days. There were eight bidders.

The Doctor Says:

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB — My friend and I wanted to build up our bodies so we joined a health club and started lifting weights. We kept it up for six weeks and had good improvement. We were pretty satisfied with ourselves. Our weight training instructor recommended a protein powder for us to gain muscles faster.

He tells us that the only thing that turns to muscle is protein so naturally if you shove in more protein you will build faster.

This protein powder costs about $20 and we are supposed to have three servings a day. We take 1-3 cup of protein with eight ounces of half-and-half each time.

I want to know if I am wasting my money on this protein. Supposedly all the big muscle men started out with this stuff. A guy working out in the gym said he used it and gained 15 pounds in one month.

I have been using the stuff for a week and haven't gained a pound. The store where I bought it told me I am too active and am burning it off. The cashier told me to consume more half-and-half and more protein supplement and he would guarantee me I would gain weight.

DEAR READER — You are the victim of a rip-off. Worse yet, the program you are on is bad for your health. I am totally against such efforts to gain weight.

You can gain weight with such programs, but if you take in a lot more calories than you need to build muscles you will be building FAT instead. It is ugly and unhealthy.

That half-and-half is loaded with FAT and much of it is saturated fat that leads to deposits of fatty cholesterol in the arteries to the heart and other vital parts of the body. And, being young won't prevent it from happening. A lot of the young soldiers killed in Korea had major cholesterol deposits in their arteries already. Half-and-half won't provide any significant amount of protein for you, only fat to make you fatter instead of more muscular.

Cutting down on your activity and stuffing yourself is like fattening a steer for fat, tender beef.

The body only uses as much protein as you need to build muscles and various protein substances. If you take more than your body needs for the building process it is converted to fat also.

The weight training is the stimulus to make the muscles grow. Even with the most vigorous training program the body needs little more than 100 grams (3 and 1/2 ounces) of protein a day. You can get this from a quart of milk a day and two seven-ounce servings of lean meat, fish or poultry.

Of course, you need to have enough calories to support your daily activity and if you don't get it then the protein might be used for energy rather than building. But you can use a lot of foods for calories that are not expensive rip-offs.

Concentrate on the weight training. Eat enough and use the meat group and milk mentioned above and you will do just fine.
